

Information Commissioner's Office

Consultation:

Direct Marketing Code

Start date: 8 January 2020

End date: 4 March 2020

Introduction

The Information Commissioner is producing a direct marketing code of practice, as required by the Data Protection Act 2018. A draft of the code is now out for public consultation.

The draft code of practice aims to provide practical guidance and promote good practice in regard to processing for direct marketing purposes in compliance with data protection and e-privacy rules. The draft code takes a life-cycle approach to direct marketing. It starts with a section looking at the definition of direct marketing to help you decide if the code applies to you, before moving on to cover areas such as planning your marketing, collecting data, delivering your marketing messages and individuals rights.

The public consultation on the draft code will remain open until 4 March 2020. The Information Commissioner welcomes feedback on the specific questions set out below.

You can email your response to directmarketingcode@ico.org.uk

Q1 Is the draft code clear and easy to understand?

Yes

No

If no please explain why and how we could improve this:

The draft code is clear and easy to understand. The examples are very helpful when considering how to apply the guidance in practice.

Q2 Does the draft code contain the right level of detail? (When answering please remember that the code does not seek to duplicate all our existing data protection and e-privacy guidance)

Yes

No

If no please explain what changes or improvements you would like to see?

Yes – although there is a lot of information in the code. It would be helpful to have a cheat sheet, or similar, at the start of each section (building on the 'at a glance' sections), pulling out the main take-aways.

Q3 Does the draft code cover the right issues about direct marketing?

Yes

No

If no please outline what additional areas you would like to see covered:

Q4 Does the draft code address the areas of data protection and e-privacy that are having an impact on your organisation's direct marketing practices?

Yes

No

If no please outline what additional areas you would like to see covered

Q5 Is it easy to find information in the draft code?

- Yes
- No

If no, please provide your suggestions on how the structure could be improved:

At times it was difficult to know where to look for guidance in the code. It would be useful if the brief 'at a glance' sections were included in the contents, so that we could easily identify relevant sections.

It would also be helpful if it could follow a similar style to the Institute of Fundraising code, where mandatory requirements are in bold, and guidance/best practice which is not based on a strict legal requirement is not.

Q6 Do you have any examples of direct marketing in practice, good or bad, that you think it would be useful to include in the code

- Yes
- No

If yes, please provide your direct marketing examples :

Including an example of communicating with individuals who are members of a third sector organisation would be helpful, particularly if it could reference the differences between service messages and direct marketing communications.

Q7 Do you have any other suggestions for the direct marketing code?

Not specifically in relation to the code but it is our view that the rules on direct marketing seem unbalanced in favour of commercial organisations and commercial activities compared to those of the third sector.
